

Duke Frederick and the congress of military unions at Baden, pledging support to him as the military chief of the empire, in the following language: "Your resolution of self-sacrifice and loyal co-operation strengthens the confidence that where the safety of the empire is at stake the German people will, regardless of political differences, unite in a firm resolve to maintain what was won in a memorable time with the active co-operation of your royal highness."

LONDON, June 7th.
The court has made an order winding up the Standard Bank of Australia, which suspended April 25th. The authorized capital was £1,000,000 of which half had been subscribed and a quarter paid in. The court also granted orders for winding up the City of Melbourne Bank (limited) and the National Bank of Australia.

New York, June 7th.
The Rome correspondent of the Catholic News cabled to-day that the Pope has mailed an important pontifical document to the bishops of the United States. This document, two correspondents say, deals with the school question and upholds the opinion of the majority of the bishops of the United States.

It has been said that the majority of Catholic bishops of the country are opposed to the position taken by Archbishop Ireland on the school question. M. Nineteen Satelli, the apostolic delegate, it will be remembered, endorsed Archbishop Ireland's views.

Berlin, June 7th.
Ahlfward, the irrepressible, has once more been to the fore, and this time he has been talking no less a person than Prince Bismarck. It came about in this way: A meeting of the Association of Land-owners was held at the house of the Prince. Prince Bismarck is recognized as a leader of this party. Why Herr Ahlfward was there is inexplicable.

The Prince had been elected chairman by the association. He rose and made a speech, in which he told his audience that he was in power the grain duty would have been raised instead of done away with. The military bill, he said, was a failure. What was wanted was an increase of war strength, not of peace strength.

"We are all agreed," said the Prince, "that things can become no better in the Fatherland so long as—"

Ahlfward interrupted with "So long as the Jews drag their web over us."

Prince Bismarck (angrily): "You have not the floor of the house!"

Ahlfward (coolly): "But the Jews have the money. They take the house and home of the peasants. They are worse than the social Democrats; than—"

Bismarck (very angrily): "I repeat, you have not the floor of the house!"

Ahlfward, without paying any attention to the admonition, began speaking again, till he was brusquely interrupted in his turn by Anti-Semitic Liebermann, who remarked, caustically: "Ahlfward, don't speak. Your places of conviction were merely from newspapers which you picked up in drinking places."

Prince Bismarck: "If order is not resumed I shall resign the chair."

Herr von Himmelfarb was speaking, when Ahlfward again interrupted with something about "Jewish usury in my papers."

Bismarck: "If you don't stop about your papers I will have you put outside."

The meeting ended in one peasant throwing another out of the room, and Prince Bismarck left the chair amid a scene of the greatest confusion.

The date of the meeting of the Reichstag has been postponed till July 4th. There is a growing feeling in the Chancellor that the elections may not turn out so favorable to the Government as they expected. The session will, it is estimated, not last more than four weeks.

AUSTIN (Tex.), June 7th.
The great regatta which commenced here to-day brought together the world's greatest rowmen. In its international character it is probably the greatest aquatic contest in the history of the world, and promises are good for five racing for the four days it lasts.

All the morning trains were crowded and thousands of people gathered on the lake-side this afternoon to witness the opening races. When the oarsmen in their shells came around to the starting point for the first race a mighty shout went up and the interest was heightened.

The first two races were three-mile trials for a place in the big professional race for Friday when the prizes are $1,000 for the winner, $500 for the second, and $200 for the third.

In the first race Hanlan was the favorite, though Teemer was backed well. Hosmer and Rogers only serving to give the field a little back one.

Hanlan finished four lengths ahead of Teemer, Rogers third, Hosmer last. Time, 20:05.

In the second race Stansbury was a little the favorite among the bettors, but the sympathy went for Gaundaur, and a good deal of money went with the sympathy.

Gaundaur was an easy winner, finishing six lengths ahead of Peterson, Stansbury third, Ten Eyck distanced. Time, 19:39.

FOOCHOW NOTES.

Foochow, July 1st.
Everything so far has gone in favour of the growing rice, and the crop is expected to be a good one.

The new District Magistrate, Ting, has lately arrived from Chekiang to relieve Chai, who has been promoted.

The weather during the last ten days, although perhaps not hotter than the average late days of June in Foochow, has been of a degree warmer than that of the period of last June.

It is reported by the pupils of the late Literary Chancellor Shing-Wong-ching to have a statue of him placed in the College Hall as a token of the esteem in which he was universally held.

At present the stocks of rice are not what they should be, and we understand that the Grain Commissioner has ordered a further supply from the North, which H. E. intends to let the poor have at a low price.

The famine in Shanai is the subject of a good deal of talk in the tea-houses in the city just now. What with a long drought first and then floods, the people of the provinces appear to be passing through very hard times, many deaths daily occurring from starvation. Some of the philanthropic Fookienese resident in Foochow are making appeals to the wealthy of the port to subscribe for the relief of the sufferers.—Edho.

SIAM NOTES.

Bangkok, June 20th.
The squall of Saturday night developed great violence at the Bar. It is reported that the Gorgon lies high and dry with an egg shell hull of water under her.

A Siamese soldier contributed to escape from this happy country by the steamship Singapore, on her trip before last to Singapore. He was wanted for "assisting the French" whatever that may mean.

A telegram has been forwarded to the Paris Legation by the Bangkok Court with the object of ascertaining whether Prince Servatius would be received in Paris as Envoy Extraordinary. We learn that no reply has as yet been received, and that the Prince is in readiness to leave at a moment's notice on receipt of a favourable reply. M. Pavie's valuable map of Indo-China is now complete and corrected. It is a complete map of Cambodia, Annam, Siam, Tonkin and Southern China. It is very valuable at the present time as the map of the Mekong Valley has been prepared with much care. The cost in Paris is $4—remarkably cheap considering the price of crude and inaccurate publications.

The following speeches are reported to have been delivered at a recent Siamese banquet:—Commodore de Richelieu, on the part of the Europeans to the Siamese service, and more particularly on the part of his countrymen, in returning thanks addressed the King in the following terms:—

"I beg to thank your Majesty in the name of the European officials, and especially those of my countrymen and myself for the kind wishes expressed by your Majesty. We are well aware that a time of trouble is approaching your Majesty's kingdom, but we look forward to it with every confidence. Fully convinced of your Majesty's desire to foster peace and good will amongst all, and being aware of your Majesty's solicitude for all in your service, we earnestly trust that when the day of trial arrives the danger will be averted, and peace and order be restored. Your Majesty will, I hope, be enabled to see that your servants, the Europeans, will prove their gratitude to your complete satisfaction, by meeting your wishes in every way."

In reply to the assurances of support expressed by those present the king briefly thanked them in the following very significant terms:—
"It has given me much pleasure to hear the encouraging words just spoken by Phya Jorajudh (Commodore de Richelieu), from whom I am sure that your Majesty will receive the same assurance. I now desire to inform you all, that if anything happens to our country I shall not have the least fear, nor will I tamely submit to the circumstances. I ask of you, one and all, to be confident, and feel assured we shall support each other, and defend our country to the utmost of our power and ability."

We noticed some few issues back that several enterprising gentlemen, with some claim to notoriety in Bangkok as elsewhere, were very anxious that their dear friends the Siamese should be well supplied with arms—"new rifles" were the words used. We are following the intrigues of these gentlemen with "absorbing interest"; but in the meantime would draw attention to another phase of the same question. A local firm, well known and highly respected, has been approached by a few enterprising Europeans to buy up the "new rifles" in Germany. These excellent "new" pieces are the discarded arms of the German Army, but good enough for Siamese to use. But the little business has broken down. The estimate appears to have been satisfactory, if the Siamese would only agree to take delivery at Singapore. This the Siamese refused to do, knowing that the Frenchmen in the Gulf might quietly appropriate the "new rifles." And now there is sorrow, weeping and gnashing of teeth among the dear friends of Siamese. We intend to come down heavily, very soon, on several little games which are being played on the dear Siamese—and on their pockets.

The Siamese are said to have torpedoes ready to be placed in the fair way of the river, should matters come to the worst. Whether they will ever be able to recover them afterwards is a question which ought to interest the merchantmen.

The Lutin has assumed a more warlike appearance within the last few days. She has fitted up two "fighting tops" and the good people in the neighbourhood are wondering what she is going to smash first. It has been the custom for the native gentry to exchange compliments with the sailors, as they passed the Lutin in their house boats. These small courtesies have now ceased.

The British section of the traders of Bangkok are making every preparation to protect themselves and their property in the event of a rising amongst the turbulent masses, and with this end in view they are registering their property at H.B.M. Consulate, evidently with the notion of realising the value of any property which may be burnt or otherwise destroyed. They have also decided upon employing armed bands of Sikhs as a sort of safeguard against depredations.

A daring robbery was committed here yesterday at 10 a.m. A gang composed partly of Chinese and Siamese, entered the residence of M. Pestimilli, residing at Klong San, and employed the Royal Royal Department, and associated the house. Mr. Pestimilli was absent at his office, and his wife was at once seized and gagged. A knife was held to her throat, and she was threatened with death if she offered any resistance. The house was then cleared of every portable article, the marauders tying up their booty in the sheets of the bed, and leaving with all speed. Mr. Pestimilli is severely injured, being covered with bruises and cuts from head to foot. Medical aid was called in, and the gang departed to Mr. French, Acting Italian Consul, who has promised to write at once to the Siamese Authorities. A robbery of this description in broad daylight, is significant of the times, and calls for more than the usual procedure in such cases. If one such gang robbery can take place there is no reason why others should not be attempted, with even more serious consequences to Europeans than has happened in this particular case.—Siam Free Press.

CHEFOO.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

June 25th, 1893.

The weather here is delightful, and a stroll along the beach or around the hill in the evening is enjoyable. The hotels and boarding-houses are beginning to fill up, and soon, unless early application is made, there will not be a room to let.

A meeting has been held among the sporting men of Chefoo, and it has been decided to hold a race meeting in September, and several ponies have already been ordered from Newchawng and Fanning.

Mr. P. Galender, proprietor of the Beach Hotel, has had the honour of being the recipient of a beautiful gold watch from the Emperor of Germany, for saving lives from the wreck of the German steamer Maria. I may also add that the late Mr. Ottoway of this port, and Mr. Vort, who is now at home, also had a watch each presented to them.—Shanghai Mercury.

SCOTT'S Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites is a combination of two most valuable remedies, to a palatable and easily digested form, having great healing and strengthening properties, most valuable in Consumption and wasting diseases. Read the following:—"I have found Scott's Emulsion of great benefit in the treatment of phthisical and scrofulous diseases. It is extremely palatable and does not upset the stomach—thus removing the great difficulty experienced in the administration of the plain oil."—D. P.
